Comedian Tim Wilson Slated for Paramount

Tim Wilson can't be mistaken for someone else. The Georgia native's distinctive baritone twang has an edge of roughness – like most of his comedy material. Wilson's comic commentary covers subjects such as blind dates, cell phones and annoying relatives.

Wilson will be performing his comedy routine at the Paramount Center for the Arts in the City of Bristol Tennessee's ongoing "City Nights Events Series". Opening for Wilson is Stewart Huff. The event is slated for Saturday, February 20 at 8PM, doors opening at 7:30 PM. Tickets for the event go on sale Wednesday, January 6th at the Paramount Box Office, Viking Hall Civic Center's Box Office, on-line at E-Tix or by phone at 423-274-8920 or 423-764-0188. For more information contact either Box Office or go to www.paramountcenter.org or www.vikinghall.com.

Along with being a longtime regular guest on nationally syndicated radio programs such as "The Bob & Tom Show" and "John Boy & Billy," Wilson also has some impressive TV credits, including appearances on "The Tonight Show With Jay Leno," "Evening at the Improv" and "Grace Under Fire." His hectic tour schedule takes him to comedy clubs and concert halls across the country.
