Police Department to conduct security course for local churches

With the issue of safety in public places increasingly becoming a topic of concern in communities across the nation, local law enforcement officials want to provide the greatest number of tools possible to keep area residents safe. One such tool is in the form of an upcoming course offered by the Bristol Tennessee Police Department regarding security for local churches. The class will cover a number of topics designed to help churches better prepare for various types of emergency situations, including violent intruders.

This two-hour session will take place on Wednesday, March 14th, 2018 from 2:00 PM – 4:00 PM in the Police Training Room on the ground floor of the Slater Center, located at 325 McDowell Street. It is free and open to members of all churches in the Bristol, TN area, and refreshments will be provided.

For further information, please contact Sergeant Brian Hess at (423)989-9382 or bhess@bristoltn.org.
