Rod Stewart impersonator Rob Caudill returning to Bristol

There are always songs that when they come on the radio, you go back to a time and place when that song was playing and memories were made. That is what Rob Caudill will be bringing to the Paramount Theatre stage as Rod Stewart-memories of an era gone by. From Hot Legs, Infatuation, Maggie May, and Forever Young to Downtown Train, each song will spark a time in life when you were young, the days were long, and love was new. The Friday, October 3rd event is sponsored by the local Marsh Regional Blood Center and hosted in the Paramount Theatre located on State Street in Bristol's historic downtown at 7:00PM.

Darlene Cole, Deputy Director of Community Relations said, "We have worked with Marsh Regional Blood Center before sponsoring other shows but this one has everyone so excited. It has all the elements of being at a Rod Stewart show in a glamorous setting such as the Paramount. If you haven't seen Rob in concert, you have got to see this gentleman, from the accent, the onstage persona, to the voice, it is Rod Stewart."

Marsh Regional Blood Center has been the largest hometown supplier of blood and blood products in Northeast Tennessee and Southwest Virginia for more than 60 years. "The blood collected by Marsh stays here in the community. We supply a number of local hospitals in the region and operate collection centers in Bristol and Kingsport. We are collecting blood daily in our area. This is our home, too, and we believe in participating in community events," said Don Campbell, Director of Marsh Regional Blood Center.

People stop Caudill in airports for autographs, they stare at him in restaurants, and when he struts on stage women scream themselves hoarse. Why, one may ask, all this because Caudill is a dead-on Rod Stewart impersonator. He's got the high definition jawline, the shock of spiky blond hair, but most importantly he has the nose. Vocally, his distinctive range easily nails every high note from Stewart's younger days. The high energy show is a must-see event for people of all ages.

Tickets are on sale now at etix.com or at the Paramount Box Office at 423-274-8120. For more information contact Darlene Cole at 423-764-4171 or email at dcole@bristoltn.org.
